Report of Green Bay Historical Society

During the past year the Green Bay Historical Society has seen the fulfillment of three projects which it has long striven to accomplish: 1st, The erection of a tablet and flag-pole marking the site of old Fort Howard—the site also of the early French and English posts. 2d. The placing of a tablet at Red Banks, commemorative of the landing of Jean Nicolet at this place in 1634, and the treaty then and there made by him with the Winnebago. 3rd, The final location and restoration of the Porlier-Tank cottage in Union Park, and its formal opening to the public as a museum and prospective branch of the Kellogg Public Library.

At a meeting of the Society held on October 21, 1908, in the assembly room of the Kellogg Public Library, two committees were appointed by the president: One was to procure funds for the restoration of the Tank cottage, of which Mrs. F. T. Blesch was chairman; the other was a committee of three, headed by Hon. James H. Elmore as chairman, to arrange with the officials of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company for the erection of a suitable tablet on their depot grounds, to mark the site of old Fort Howard. Mr. Elmore diligently corresponded and personally conferred with the Northwestern officials, and at the several meetings of this committee, held during the winter, reported progress.

In June, a formal meeting of the Society was held, and at that time it was decided to join with the State Historical Society in celebrating the discovery of Wisconsin by Jean Nicolet in 1634, this being the 275th anniversary of that event. Mr. Elmore also reported that President Hughitt and other officials of the North western road were ready to place a large boulder, with bronze tablet affixed, to mark the site of Fort Howard; that he had had a personal interview with them in Chicago, and found them very much interested in the matter, and quite enthusiastic. They were, however, not in favor of placing the tablet at the southeastern corner of the stockade, where the Society had wished to have it located, for the reason that it would then be in the midst of a network of tracks; that it would involve considerable danger to those who wished to examine the tablet, and might be the occasion of many vexatious lawsuits. It was therefore proposed that the monument be placed at the south end of their park, at the terminus of Main street bridge; that a flag pole be erected on what was formerly the southeast corner of the stockade, and that the company agree to furnish a flag for it and keep it flying in all suitable weather. While paying the entire cost of the bronze tablet and boulder, the Northwestern officials insisted that the monument should be given in the name of the Green Bay Historical Society, and that no mention should be made on the tablet of the company's generosity. They stipulated, however, that the flag-pole should be provided and erected by the Society.

Mrs. Blesch reported that something over $100 had been collected for the repairing of the Tank cottage, and that the city council had donated the sum of $125 for painting, papering, etc.

It was decided also to hold the joint meeting on the 10th, 11th, and 12th of August, if these dates could be arranged with the State Historical Society. The following committees were appointed at this time:

Arrangements-Hon. James H. Elmore, Chairman.

Reception-Rt. Rev. J. J. Fox, Chairman.

Programme-Dr. R. G. Thwaites, Chairman.

Press-Frank Bissinger, Chairman.

An informal meeting of the Society was held July 30 to make final arrangements for the joint celebration, the president appointing at that time a committee of three (Rev. L. A. Ricklin, chairman) to secure a site and find a boulder for the Nicolet tablet at Red Banks. The president himself made several trips to Red Banks, searching for a boulder of suitable size for the large tablet which had been ordered, and was aided very much in this search by Mr. John P. Schumacher and Father Ricklin.

Dr. Thwaites visited Green Bay on August 1, and met the various committees at the home of President Neville. He also made a trip to Red Banks with the members of the Nicolet Tablet committee, and rendered great assistance in locating the monument.

A tentative and handsomely printed programme was issued by the State Historical Society and widely circulated through the State, which contained the essential features of the local programme. A later and more detailed edition was prepared by the Green Bay Historical Society for use during the three days' celebration (see ante, pp. 36–38, for this programme).

The programme was most successfully carried out in every particular. The exercises were attended by large crowds of citizens and many outside visitors, who manifested great interest and appreciation of the fine addresses and ceremonies attendant on the dedications of the several monuments.

A large number of the officials of the Northwestern road came by special train to attend the unveiling of the Fort Howard tablet and the hoisting of the flag on the pole at the corner of the southeast bastion. Their presence gave especial dignity to the exercises held. On account of a sudden shower, the ceremonies, except the actual unveiling of the tablet, were held in the large waiting room of the depot, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. The addresses of General Manager Aishton and General Counsel E. M. Hyzer were listened to with deep attention. We wish here to record our great sense of obligation to the officials of the Northwestern road, not only for their liberality, but for the unfailing courtesy shown by them to us in all our negotiations relating to this memorial tablet.

Immediately following the Fort Howard exercises, on Wednesday afternoon, the Tank cottage was formally opened, with interesting addresses by Miss Deborah B. Martin, Mr. Louis A. Sogey, and Hon. Henry E. Legler.

The historical collection arranged in the museum of the Kellogg Public Library attracted widespread attention, a young man being sent out by the Museum of Natural History in New York to examine and report on the collection. It consisted for the greater part of articles in use from earliest times in Green Bay, beginning with Indian pottery and stone implements, then relies of the courcurs de bois, and leading up to and including the period of the abandonment of Fort Howard.

The evening meetings were held in the roomy many rary, and were very largely attended. Special mention the ld be made of the fine addresses made by Dr. Frederick & turner of the University, Dr. Reuben Gold Thwaites, so the tendent of the State Historical Society, and of Hjalmer to each of whom we wish to express our the last iks.

The rooms were beautifully decorated by the Catholic Woman's Club, the Woman's Club, and the Marquette Club, and immediately following the exercises a reception was held by the clubs above mentioned.

On Thursday morning the Society and its guests made an historical pilgrimage to Red Banks by boat and automobile. Quite a large number availed themselves of the means of conveyance thus afforded, and many of the summer residents at Red Banks and of the surrounding farms were present at the unveiling of the tablet. Very interesting addresses were delivered by Dr. Thwaites and Mr. John F. Martin, the latter speaking in place of Father Ricklin, who was unable to attend.

A large part of the cost of the tablet was defrayed by members of the State Historical Society, non-resident in Green Bay, and the balance was made up by members of the Green Bay Historical Society. The expense of the boulder and foundation was contributed by the local chapter of the Knights of Columbus.

The Porlier-Tank cottage has been put in good condition during the summer; the committee has held regular afternoons, weekly, at the cottage, and a goodly sum has been realized in this manner, which has been expended in its furnishing and renovation. A number of interesting articles have been donated towards a museum, competent care-takers have been placed in charge, and it is hoped that later the library board will be enabled to establish there a branch library, for the use of the large population of the South Side.

Before closing, the Society wishes to express its thanks to Mr. August Braums for his services in surveying and establishing the exact southeast corner of the old stockade.

ARTHUR C. NEVILLE, President.

The Old Tank House

Miss Martin's paper on this subject, read at the Green Bay celebration, contains so much interesting data that the Editor takes the liberty of appending it to Mr. Neville's report:

This, the oldest house now standing in Wisconsin, or indeed in the Northwest, was built in "good old colony days," when we lived under King George the Third of England. All the settlers of Green Bay during the eighteenth century were French Canadians; the builder of this house, Joseph Roy, with his brother Amable, immigrated here in 1775, according to his own sworn testimony. Joseph married a Menominee Indian woman, and built this house the year following his arrival-that is, in 1776. Roy was a typical voyageur of the period. He could neither read nor write, and signed his name with a cross. He followed the fur-trade in haphazard fashion, cultivated a small garden, fished, hunted, and in the spring made quantities of maple sugar. His cabin was built of uprights, worked perhaps with a whipsaw; it was lathed with boughs of trees, and plastered with mud-the condition in which we found it, when the later-day clapboards were torn off. Only the centre of the present house represented the original dwelling of Joseph Roy; but it was a spacious dwelling for the time and place, and when filled with blazing logs the great fire-place doubtless amply heated the entire house. According to Roy's testimony before the United States land commissioner, who came to adjust the French land claims in 1821, he lived in this house twenty-nine years before selling the property in 1805 to Judge Jacques Porlier. Although unlettered, Roy was a well-known and respected character, as was his. brother Amable; Madame Amable Roy had the distinction of owning; the first cultivated appletree in Green Bay.

Judge Jacques Porlier, the second occupant of the old house, was a very different person from its builder, Joseph Roy. Coming to Green Bay from Montreal, in 1791, he was a cultured French gentleman, well educated, and with most courtly manners. He is described as being of medium height, with reddish hair, somewhat bald, quiet, unassuming in manner, and universally polite. Jacques Porlier was Green Bay's first schoolmaster; for several years, he taught the children of his employer, Pierre Grignon. Later, he became involved in the fur-trade, which was always an intricate, fluctuating commercial venture. Porlier & Rocheblave were for years a well-known firm both in Mackinac and Green Bay, until swallowed up by the great American Fur Company, headed by John Jacob Astor.

Porlier held several offices of trust under the British administration; and when Green Bay passed under American government, he was made the first probate judge of Brown County, by appointment of Gov. Lewis Cass of Michigan Territory. Judge Porlier was a most painstaking magistrate. French being almost universally used, he translated the laws into that language. Many of our early deeds and records are written in Judge Porlier's careful, fine French hand. From the low, broad windows of this cottage Judge Porlier could watch the river highway, in his day the only convenient path of travel; he could see Indian canoes skimming back and forth, bringing crowds of aborigines to barter their furs for trading-house finery or ammunition; or could see the government barge from Fort Howard carrying gay parties to Menomineeville.

In one of his letters preserved in the library of the State Historical Society, Judge Porlier speaks of his beautiful garden, and says that "chère petite Marguerite" gives it all her care. This fine garden, where grew melons, corn, and beans in abundance, was enclosed by a high picket fence to protect it from the droves of semi-wild cattle that then infested the common.

It was from this old house that Judge Porlier went forth one blustering March evening, just before the ice in the river broke up, to perform a marriage ceremony in another small log house across the river—the home of Joseph Jourdain, a habitant often spoken of in early annals. Jourdain's cabin was in festal array. The occasion, was the marriage of his pretty daughter Madeline to the Rev. Eleazer William's, a fine-looking man, much older than the little bride, and long known to us all as "the lost dauphin." Indeed, he is still believed by a select few to have been the missing Louis XVII of France.

In 1839 Judge Porlier died in this house. His death, and that of his old friend Louis Grignon, which occurred soon after, marked the passing away of the French regime in Green Bay. From that time, new influences came into the life of the town.

When Mr. and Mrs. Nels Otto Tank came here in 1850, it was no longer distinctively French in character. The Tanks added two wings to the cottage—the one to the north (or the west, as it now stands in Union Park) being called the "prayer room," because religious services were here held for the Norwegian colony; the other one is still standing, and therein we hope to have our branch library.

Although this old house is familiarly spoken of as "the Tank cottage," and our associations with it are wholly connected with Mrs. Tank—with her quaint, interesting personality, and the beautiful heirlooms with which her house was filled, like a background to the picture of this Dutch gentlewoman—there rises before us another picture, hardly less vivid, of the early French occupants themselves.

We see again the old house as it stood for so many, many years, close to the water's edge, gray, weather-beaten, indistinct against its thick screen of forest trees. So low and close to the ground was it. that the cottage seemed a part of the soil. We know that it was placed as it was, not for the beauty of situation, but because it was built by a French voyageur, who must live near the river highway; then again, the river brink was the only spot unclaimed by the forest. Roy's successor in this cottage, being a French fur-trader and magistrate, must also have his home on the direct route to Mackinac. We recognize that the heavy wooden shutters, that were lost when the house was moved to its present situation in the park, were placed on it in a far-off time by French hands, and were as strong as possible because of marauding Indians. We realize that the queer little dormer window, high up on the roof, is a memory of Montreal. not of Holland; that the great rubble-stone fire-place was built in a primitive time. So the old house, in quaint outline and bygone style of construction, tells its own story as no other chronicler can, also the story of those who have lived in it.

Report of Lafayette County Historical Society

The Lafayette County Historical Society was organized and incorporated in January of this year. Responding to our urgent invitation, Dr. Reuben G. Thwaites favored us with an address at our court-house the evening of January 7, which was most instructive, and stimulated largely the interest of our people in the new organization.

The county board of supervisors generously set apart a suitable room in the new court-house for a museum for the Society, and granted to it the use of the county board room for a meeting place. The board also made an appropriation, not to exceed $500, to properly furnish and equip the room set aside for a museum. These furnishings could not be bought in the market and had to be manufactured, and great difficulty and delay were encountered in finding a company who would manufacture what we wanted. We finally contracted for the furniture, but considerable time was required for its manufacture. The furniture will soon be delivered to us, and we will be in share to move along in the work of the Society.

Many of our people take a great interest in the Society and its purposes, and I have no doubt it will be instrumental in gathering and preserving much of the early history of this portion of the State, which otherwise would be forgotten and lost.

P. A. ORTON,
President.

MONUMENT TO CHIEF MENICO

Report of Manitowoc County Historical Society

The Manitowoe County Historical Society has no reason to feel discouraged at the results of its efforts for the season 1909-10. While not many meetings have been held, interest has been maintained and some plans long cherished by the members brought to a happy consummation. The same officers that have guided the destinies of the Society since its foundation were by unanimous consent continued in office another year, when the annual business session was held in January.

The winter course opened on February 13 with a talk on the "History of the town of Kossuth," by Otto Drews. Mr. Drews had given the subject considerable investigation, and was able in a manner highly creditable to trace out the development of the settlements made by different nationalities. Many of the old settlers of the town were present, and their reminiscences added to the interest of the session.

On March 25 Dr. J. F. Pritchard, formerly a director in the Wisconsin Central Railroad Co., gave a most interesting lecture on the "Railroad history of Manitowoc County." He traced the early efforts and failures to secure rail connections with the outside world, and then went into the inside history of later Manitowoc transportation activities.

The crowning feature, however, of the work of the Society was the dedication of the monument erected to the honor of Waumegesako (Mexico), chief of the mixed tribes at the mouth of Manitowoc River. This dedication was made possible by the public spirit and generosity of the Hon. Nicholas Kettenhoffen, who donated the stone, carved out its rugged shape, designed the medallion which ornaments its front, and placed it on the beautiful slope overlooking the village of Manitowoc Rapids, once the county seat.

The villagers and the neighbors in the surrounding township of Manitowoe Rapids assisted in making the event a success by donating a site, contributing towards the expense, and arranging the programme of the day. The event took place on a balmy Sunday afternoon, August 8, and was witnessed by a gathering of people variously estimated in numbers at from 3,000 to 5,000. In fact, the interest and enthusiasm manifested in this project outdid anything that had been expected by those having the matter in charge. The school children particularly were interested in the affair, and the care of the historic spot has been placed in their hands.

The dedication ceremonies opened with music and an address of welcome by Judge Emil Baensch, president of the Society. Prayer was then offered by Rev. Mr. Hastings of St. James church. Dr. Louis Falge read a brief account of the dead chief's life-work and character. Secretary R. G. Plumb then delivered the presentation address, which was replied to in behalf of the township by Chairman Emil Vetting, and on behalf of the school district by Ed Bedell. The two official guests of the occasion. Dr. R. G. Thwaites, superintendent of the State Historical Society, and Mr. Otto Habhegger, president of the Wisconsin Archæological Society, then delivered addresses, and a benediction closed the ceremonies.

The monument is of reddish Lake Superior sandstone, and will doubtless long remain as a landmark and as a tribute to the friendly old chief who helped make easier the way of the Manitowoo County pioneers.

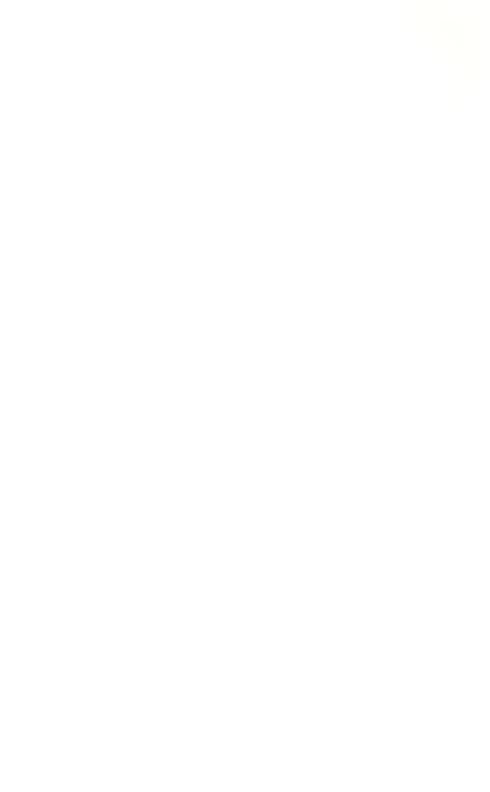

A course of lectures for the coming winter is already under active consideration, and it is hoped among others to secure as speakers Dr. F. J. E. Westgate, Prof. Fred Christiansen, George Wehrwein, and Capt. Tim Kelley.

R. G. Plumb, Secretary.

Report of Ripon Historical Society

The Ripon Historical Society has no record of achievement to report for the past year. There is still going on the quiet work of collection of material, which is being safely cared for at the city library. No important meetings have been held since the last report. Superintendent E. L. Luther of the city schools is the president, and is planning for a programme of special papers to be prepared the coming year.

Report of Sauk County Historical Society

The Sauk County Historical Society has finished a year in which the regular routine work of recording collections and arranging historical newspaper items has been relieved by the marking of Chief Yellow Thunder's grave and the homecoming at Newport.

The collections on exhibition in the rooms in the court-house have been increased, more particularly by the donations of hand-made tools of pioneer days, in the possession of which the Society is especially strong.

The Society has decided to change from the card catalogue system of accessioning the donations, to the book system, such as is in use in the State Historical Library at Madison. Next year will mark a beginning on this system.

Plans are also on foot to change the classification of the specimens in the court-house, by subjects.

At the four meetings held during the year, the following papers were read:

"Old Newport," Hon. G. G. Swain of Winona, Minn.

"Directory of Newport," Dr. Ambrose Jones of Delton.

"Rafting on the Wisconsin," J. T. Huntington, Delton.

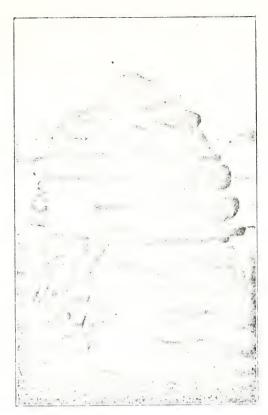

"Newport to-day," Mrs. J. E. English, Baraboo.

"Sauk County in the Civil War," Hon. Philip Cheek, Baraboo.

On Friday, August 27, occurred the unveiling of the Yellow Thunder pillar, five miles north of Baraboo, at the cross roads, and the homecoming at Newport, all of which constituted the annual pilgrimage of the Society.

At the pillar ceremony, Clerk of the Court James H. Hill spoke on "Indian memorials;" Mrs. Emma Mertzke, representing the Twentieth Century Club, which participated in the arrangements resulting in the erection of the pillar, spoke on "Yellow Thunder, war chief of the Winnebago;" and Edmund Calvert, who knew the Yellow Thunder family, and was present at his burial, told of the last rites over the remains of the chief.

The second part of the pilgrimage was held at Newport, on the banks of Wisconsin River, about four miles south of Kilbourn. Dinner was eaten from baskets, after which Dr. Reuben Gold Thwaites, superintendent of the State Historical Society, gave an address, from the top of an Indian mound, on "The romance of Mississippi Valley history."

After his address, W. S. Marshall, manager of the Marshall farm, gave his recollections of the thriving city of which but a few houses remain. Other speakers were Dr. A. A. Jones, of Delton (a real homecomer, and nearly ninety years of age), and Maj. Guy C. Pierce of Kilbourn.

Orin L. Stinson, Secretary.

Report of Superior Historical Society

This city lately adopted as its slogan, "Superior delivers the goods." Our Historical Society, however, has not lived up to this motto, for since there have been no meetings during the past year, we are unable to make any annual report. Our people have been busy during the year in making history (as we hope), and have therefore neglected recording history previously made.

We trust that in the year to come the present may be so subordinated that there will be leisure for reviving and preserving the memories of the past, and that it will not again be necessary to make return of nulla bona.

James Bardon,

President.

Henry S. Butler,

Secretary.

Report of Walworth County Historical Society

The Society begs leave to report a gain of one member, the reelection of the present officers, and the following memorial notices:

Edward Seymour Beckwith, one of the earliest members of this Society, died May 28, 1909, at the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, where he had gone for treatment of painful affections suffered for some years. He was of the eighth American generation in most of the several lines of his descent, and was second of the ten children of Asahel Lane Beckwith and Harriet Angeline Seymour. He was born October 18, 1837, at Chittenango, Madison County, New York, and came to Wisconsin in 1856. He enlisted April 21, 1861, in Company K, 2nd Wisconsin Infantry. In December following, this company became a battery of heavy artillery, and from this service he was mustered out July 6, 1864. He was in the actions at Blackburn's Ford and Bull Run.

His services to this Society and to the parent Society, as well as to the public library at Elkhorn, were numerous, intelligently directed, and noiseless. Among various aptitudes was that for tabulation of statistics of regimental service in the War of Secession, and that for genealogical study and arrangement of data; and this quality was not wholly unknown to other "workers in the field of human relationship," or unacknowledged by them. A series of Beckwith Notes, compiled by himself and a brother, owes full half of such value as it may have to his patient industry, his intelligent skepticism at certain points, and his ingenious conjectures (often leading to proof) at other points. He had also collected considerable Seymour data.

Henry Bradley, honorary member of this Society, died at Elshorn, August 17, 1909. He was a descendant of Francis Brailey and Mary Barlow, early settlers of Fairfield, Conn., and was son of Daniel E. Bradley and Betsey Sturgis. He was born in the valley of Ouleout Creek, town of Sidney, Delaward County, New York. In 1839 his parents came to Elkhorn. He served the town for several years as clerk, justice, and school officer. From 1861 to 1886 he was postmaster; after an interval of four years he returned to his old duty, serving from 1890 to 1894, a total service of twenty-nine years.

Mr. Bradley was a man who could afford to speak truth and to do right at whatever consequence to himself. He was an early and efficient friend of the public library, and a liberal giver to its book-shelves. More generally speaking, he was always to be found among men who sought, in some sane and practical way, to serve the larger and truer interests of Elkhorn. His only son is a member both of this Society and of the State Society.

J. H. SNYDER, JR., Secretary.

Reports of Local Auxiliaries

Report of Waukesha County Historical Society

The Waukesha County Historical Society has held two meetings during the past year. Five resident members and two corresponding members were elected during the twelve months.

A gavel made from a piece of an oak beam taken from the first house built in Eagle was presented to the Society by the Open Door Club of that town. It is marked with a silver plate suitably inscribed—the gift of the president, George F. Westover.

Mrs. Helen A. Whitney of Waukesha presented a package of old newspapers to the Society.

At the meeting held in Waukesha March 6, 1909, after the election of officers, papers were read by Mrs. H. M. Youmans on "The Waukesha County fair of old days," and W. P. Sawyer, "Reminiscences of Waukesha and vicinity." These were followed by five-minute talks by members and guests.

The meeting held September 4, 1909, in Delafield, by the invitation of Mrs. Virginia Alden Brewster, was the most largely attended of any since the Society was organized, 125 members and guests being present.

A letter was read from Charles E. Brown, chief of the museum department of the State Historical Society, inviting members to visit the museum, also asking as gift or loan, specimens for use in illustrating the educational, religious, military, agricultural, railroad, and medical history of the State.

Announcement was made by the secretary that Miss Louise Alden of Delafield had placed a temporary marker on the site-of the birthplace of Lieut. William B. Cushing, near the village of Delafield.

The programme began as usual with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and closed with a well-arranged medley of oldtime songs, ending with "America."

The papers were: "Reminiscences of Oconomowoc and contrasts," Miss Grace P. Jones; "Stories of Pewaukee," I. N. Stewart; and a letter from Nelson Hawks, son of the landlord of the old Hawks tavern, where the meeting was held.

There were present a number of former pupils of Miss Jones and Mr. Stewart, as well as many who had pleasant recollections connected with the old tavern, making this an especially interesting meeting.

Suggestions for the organization and work of local historical societies in Wisconsin

Local Historical Societies

The State Historical Society of Wisconsin gladly welcomes to its ranks new local auxiliary societies, and takes great interest and pride in the work of those already established. To any person in-

How to organize terested in the formation of such, the Superintendent will be much pleased to send a copy of Bulletin No. 27; this contains not only the statutes of Wisconsin providing for these auxiliaries, but instructions as to procedure, and a suggested form of constitution and by-laws.

It is the habit of the most active local historical societies in this State to hold two or three public meetings during the winter. these, papers are read or addresses made by selected persons, or topics concerned with the history of the county. Meetings and These meetings almost always awaken much attenpilgrimages tion from all classes of people. In summer or autumn, the society holds one or two open-air assemblies. Generally, these take the form of a "pilgrimage" to some place of historic interest, such as a group of Indian mounds, an Indian village site, or some famous pioneer building; lacking such places, some favorite grove is chosen. The public are invited thither, there is a basket picnic, and often a formal programme of speaking. Other occasions for out-of-door gatherings are the placing of memorial tablets on historic sites (see our Bulletin No. 30, on Wisconsin landmarks).

The local society may be represented at any meeting of the State society. Lists of members of the auxiliaries are published by the latter, also their annual reports, and auxiliaries are constantly encouraged from headquarters by way of suggestions.

It is anticipated that each local society will work in connection with the public library movement. One of the duties of the society should be to gather all books, pamphlets, leaflets, programmes, newspaper files or dated clippings, diaries, journals, account-books, surveyors' note- and field-books, record books of every sort, and letters and letter books, relating to the locality. These should be placed either in the local library, or in the library at the county seat; thus deposited, investigators studying historical topics may freely consult them (4), our Bulletin No. 25, on collecting local history material; also No. 5, on how to take care of it in libraries).

Several of the societies have made arrangements with the public libraries at their county seats, by which alcoves are set apart for the accommodation of such local historical collections. Creditable historical and archaeological museums have also been established by these societies, either in the library (as at Green Bay and Ripon) or in the county court house (as at Baraboo and Darlington). Send for our Bulletin No. 43, which describes and gives suggestions for local museums of this character. If, however, there is no local accommodation for this sort of material, the library and museum of the State Historical Society will be very glad indeed to accept and care for it, on behalf of the Commonwealth, of which it is the incorporated trustee.

It is expected, also, that the local society will work in conjunction with the public schools, interesting teachers and pupils in the Co-operation with schools

Co-operation be issued by the society, or through its agency, for the best school essays on that subject.

In fact, there are many very useful things for local historical societies to do. The interest which is exhibited in this work by the members of those already organized, shows that hundreds of people find in it a keen enjoyment.

Suggestions for topics and methods of study

Among the topics which may properly be discussed in papers to be presented to meetings of local historical societies, the following may be named, by way of suggestion; the list might readily be enlarged, or modified to meet local conditions. See our Bulletin No. 12, for further hints.

1. Archaology.—If any rock-carvings, considerable deposits of stone and copper tools, or Indian mounds, have been discovered within the county, these should carefully be reported on, with locations accurately cited and mapped, and the objects specifically described. This survey ought not to be taken as an excuse for opening any more mounds—none but scientifically-equipped archaeologists should be trusted to do this work. Probably a sufficient number of Wisconsin mounds have, for scientific purposes, already been opened; local societies should consider it one of their duties to protect and preserve intact all mounds now extant. In this connection, cite any notable collections of prehistoric specimens, either in private hands or museums, within the county.

- 2. Indian tribes.—Secure reports of all Indian village sites, planting grounds, trails, and battle-fields, with accurately-described locations, dates, names of tribes, and approximate number of souls. If there are any Indians still within the county, let their present condition be carefully noted.
- 3. Pioneer American settlement.—This opens a fertile field, with familiar methods of treatment. Not only may the collections of the first-comers be gathered (their letters, diaries, etc.), but care should be taken to trace the political history of the county (its early boundaries, and changes therein, lists of public officials since the organization, new offices created, history of political parties, etc.), and the growth of courts, schools, churches, philanthropy, reforms, civic societies, the press, agricultural and other industries, commerce, highways, etc. Accounts of early tayerns, ferries, bridges, and steamboats, also other public utilities, should be prepared with care.

If the county once was or still is the seat of lumbering or mining operations, these should receive especial consideration—particularly as to methods, transportation facilities, men engaged in the industry, prices, etc. If agricultural methods have much changed, these are worthy of consideration—for instance, if the county has developed from a wheat-growing centre to a dairy region, or has of late years taken up a specialty like pea-growing or apple culture. In the same way, changes in manufacturing methods—as when lumbering has been succeeded by other industries—furnish good topics for careful investigators.

- 4. Landmarks.—If there are within the county any notable historic sites, these should be sought and listed, and preparations made for properly labeling them with tablets or otherwise (see our Bulletin No. 30, on landmarks). Under this head may properly be classed: notable Indian trails or portages; sites of Indian villages and Indian battles; graves of Indian chiefs; sites of early fur-trading stockades or houses; and the first dwelling, or school-house, or other public building known to have been built in each village and city.
- 5. Groups of foreign-born settlers.—This is a field in which the State society has done considerable work, and is much interested.

To each nationality the local society should assign some one who has ample facilities for ascertaining facts concerning the causes inducing original migrations from Europe to Wisconsin, the experiences of the immigrants, carroute, the history of the early struggles in our State, and the ultimate effect of each foreign group upon the surrounding inhabitants. The State society has thus far published accounts of the Belgians of Northeast Wisconsin, Bohemians, Cornish of Southwest Wisconsin, Icelanders on Washington Island, Germans, Norwegians, Poles, Scotch, and Swiss. But some of these studies may profitably be extended, and all should be more thoroughly localized.

- 6. Military history.—The part the county took in the War of Secession will furnish abundant topics for papers; also its part in the old ante bellum militia system, in the Spanish-American War, and in the Wisconsin National Guard of today. Either by way of general treatment, or in reminiscences and biographies of veterans, this field is especially recommended. The important part which the women of Wisconsin took in the War of Secession, both at home and in the hospitals, should certainly not be neglected. Local historical societies may profitably co-operate in this matter with the several patriotic associations (G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps, etc.).
- 7. Co-operation with schools.—Local historical societies would do well to secure the co-operation of teachers in the public schools. Much valuable work in the direction of collecting material, "interviewing" pioneers, and preparing historical sketches, can be done by advanced pupils, under the guidance of their instructors. Some of the most creditable of this work should find a place on the literary programmes of meetings of the societies; such recognition incites the pupils to still greater effort. One of the most important purposes of these societies should be the stimulation of a spirit of historical inquiry in the minds of Wisconsin boys and girls. The most enduring basis of civic patriotism, is pride in the history of the locality whence one has sprung.

Some helpful bulletins

Copies of the following Bulletins of Information, published by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin and mentioned above, will be sent gratis to persons interested in forming local historical societies:

- No. 27. Statutes providing for societies auxiliary to the State Historical Society, together with suggestions for constitution and by-laws of such auxiliaries.
- No. 25. The gathering of local history material by public libraries.
- No. 9. How local history material is preserved in the Library of the State Historical Society.
- No. 43. Local public museums in Wisconsin.
- No. 12. Suggestions to local historians.
- No. 30. Landmarks in Wisconsin.

Travelling libraries on Wisconsin history

The study of Wisconsin history is especially popular among the women's clubs of the State. The State Historical Society has continually in the field several well-selected travelling libraries on this subject. These are loaned through the effective agency of the Wisconsin Free Library Commission, with whom correspondence concerning this matter should be had.

The study outline accompanying these travelling libraries on Wisconsin history is admirably arranged. A feature thereof that will prove of value to local historians, is the classified list of all papers and documentary material that have thus far been published by the State Historical Society in its Proceedings and in the Wisconsin Historical Collections. These valuable publications, which have a national reputation, are either already in each public and high school library in the State, or will be placed there on application by its librarian to the Superintendent of the Society. Individuals may obtain the publications by becoming members of the Society; the fee is $2 for annual membership or $20 for life membership (the latter class is in many ways the most advantageous). Send to the Superintendent for an application blank.

The State Historical Society of Wisconsin Bulletin of Information No. 58 June, 1911

List of Active Members of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin

(Trustee of the State)

And of its local auxiliaries, the Green Bay, Lafayette County, Manitowoc, Ripon, Sauk County, Superior, Trempealeau County, Walworth County, and Waukesha
County Historical Societies

Corrections to this sixth annual Membership List, especially as regards full names, academic degrees, and official and professional positions held by Members, will be welcomed by the Secretary.

Nominations for membership should also be addressed to the Secretary. Any member has the right to propose new names.

Extract from the constitution of the Society:

Membership

ARTICLE II, Section 1. This Society shall be composed of life, annual, honorary, corresponding, auxiliary, and ex-officio members.

Members of the first four classes may be chosen by the executive committee of the Society at any regular or special meeting thereof.

Any society in Wisconsin, organized for the purpose of gathering and preserving facts relative to the history of this State and of its individual citizens, and incorporated in accordance with the laws of the State, may, upon application and the filing of a resolution as required by law, become an auxiliary member of this Society, be represented at all general meetings thereof by one delegate, and make a report of its work annually to this Society.

Ex-officio members are the governor, secretary of state, and state treasurer.

SECTION 2. The fees for membership shall be as follows: for life membership, twenty dollars; and for annual membership, two dollars per annum. The life membership fee, 'or the first year's dues for annual membership, shall be payable within one month after election to membership and notice of such election; except that an annual member may at any time become a life member by paying the requisite fee.

SECTION 3. The right to hold office and to vote, and to take part in the proceedings of the Society, shall be possessed only by life, annual, and ex-officio members, and delegates from auxiliary societies; only life and annual members shall hold office.

The State Historical Society of Wisconsin Bulletin of Information No. 62 April, 1912

Typographical Style-book for Annotation

For the guidance of writers, printers, and proof-readers of the Society's publications

Suggestions as to the Scope and Style of Annotation

The author should supply in foot-notes all of the information which he considers that a careful reader ought to have, properly to grasp the full significance of the text. Additional data, the presentation of which might interrupt the smooth flow of the text, yet which would be desirable for the information of those especially interested in the subject, may also be given in foot-notes. But if the annotation be too profuse, the typographical effect of the printed page is inartistic and the reader is repelled.

The sources used by the author should be fully and carefully cited. This is for the purpose of keeping good faith with the reader, who may not care to take for granted the author's unsupported statement. The authorities may be cited either in detached foot-notes to support the text, or grouped in a general bibliography, or in both ways. The present bulletin is largely devoted to the methods to be employed in preparing annotation, for herein most amateurs betray their inexperience.

The literary style of the foot-note should be compact and direct—the simplest possible form of presentation.

Formerly, the foot-notes on each page were indicated and, arranged in the familiar order of *, †, ‡, §, ||, ¶, etc. But these are now for the most part superseded by Arabic numerals, although occasionally letters are used. Where the book is to be set by linotype, it will effect a considerable saving to number the notes consecutively, in series from 1 to 99; in such case, it will also be helpful to the printer if the copy for notes is prepared on sheets distinct from the text.

I. Capitalization

CAPITALIZE:

1. The principal words = nouns, pronouns, adjectives, adverbs, and verbs, and the last word in the titles of books, articles, magazines, plays, lectures, poems, etc.

a. In citing magazines and newspapers do not include the article (a, an, or the) as part of the title.

2. Personal or professional titles preceding the name.

President Cleveland, the Marquis of Lorne, Mayor Harrison of Chicago, United States Commissioner of Education Harris; but, the mayor of Chicago Dr. J. C. Harris, United States commissioner of education.

Academic degrees when used as titles or in an abbreviated form.
 Dr. John C. Smith, or John C. Smith, Ph. D.; but John C. Smith, doctor of philosophy.

4. Geographical terms, both physical and political.

Hudson River, Lake Erie, New York State, New York City, Northwest Territory, Lincoln Park, Madison Street, the Great Lakes: but Hudson and Mohawk rivers, lakes Erie and Michigan, the state of New York, the city of New York, the territory west of the River Missouri.

a. State or territory, when used specifically.

The State supports the University.

The Territory became a State in 1848.

5. Words designating specific regions.

The Old World, the West, the Old Northwest, the Orient, the Far East, Southern States; but, the western United States, oriental customs, south of New Jersey.

6. Political parties, historical epochs, and such events as treaties, wars, and specific days.

Middle Ages. Treaty of Utrecht. American Revolution, Wars of the Roses Fourth of July (the Fourth), Labor Day. Republicans, Liberals, Social Democrats; but a republican form of government, the liberal policy, the socialist propaganda.

7. Religious denominations, sacred books, and monastic orders.

The Anglican Church, Catholicism, the Koran, Franciscans.

8. Abbreviations indicating periods of time.

B. C., A. D., A. M., P. M.

II. Italics

ITALICIZE:

1. Titles of books, magazines, newspapers, long poems, and plays.

James Bryce, American Commonwealth (New York, 1910), ii, p. 412. Atlantic Monthly, Niv. p. 404.

Chicago Tribune, July 11, 1911.

Odyssey, il. 135.

Love's Labour's Lost, act iii, sc. 2, 1-9.

a. Public documents and the publications of learned societies are considered as books. It is customary to italicize only the name or class of the specific publication, unless the name of the organization forms part of the title.

United States Bureau of Ethnology Bulletins, no. 24, p. 410: Wisconsin Historical Society Proceedings, 1949, p. 250: but United States Indian Treaties (Washington, 1837), p. 114: Westensin Historical Collections, xix, p. 324.

b. In citing newspapers and periodicals do not italicize the name of the place, unless it is a part of the title.

Chicago Tribune, May 26, 1910: but American Review of Reviews, xxiv, p. 44; Boston Ideas, June, 1910.

- 2. Scientific names of species, names of stars, and constellations. felis leo, bernicle Canadensis, Arcturus, Ursa Maior.
- 3. The familiar reference terms ante, post, ibid, id, passim, op. cit. (see part v, post).
  - . See op. cit., ante, p. 16, note 3.
- 4. The words Whereas, Resolved, and Therefore, when commencing sentences in a series of resolutions.
  - 5. Foreign words or phrases that have not become Anglicized.

He goes to Rome nemine contradicente.

The vote was taken vive voce.

It was in the period of the French regime.

III. Quotations

QUOTE:

1. Titles of articles in books or periodicals, short poems, names of characters in plays.

Peckham's "Western Planting" in Richard Hakluyt's Voyages (Glasgow, ed. 1904), iv. pp. 88-131,

Longfellow's "Excelsior."

The character of "Hamiet" in the play of Hamlet.

2. Subjects of sermons or lectures, toasts, mottoes, and works of art.

Robertson on the "Mission of St. Paul."

"Dare or die" was the principle that governed his life.

Raphael's "Transfiguration." Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony."

3. Proper names of ships and animals.

The "Washington" sailed June 15, 1816.

"Traveler" was General Lee's war-horse.

4. Words or phrases preceded by the terms "designated," "so-called," "named," etc., either expressed or implied.

The Indians called this the "wild rice moon," or month.

IV. Punctuation

1. If the matter enclosed in parentheses is explanatory of the preceding words or phrases, punctuation should follow the parenthesis.

Published by Harper Brothers (New York), in a folio volume (24 x 13 in.).

Frederick J. Turner, New West (Amer. Nation series).

George Bancroft, United States (ed. 1892).

2. In a sequence of three or more words or phrases, of which the last is preceded by "and," separate all by commas.

Harper's, Magmillan's, and Putnam's are all reputable publishing houses. The Danes, Swedes, Norwegians, and Icelanders are collectively called Scandinavians.

- a. In names of firms or corporations where the abbreviation & is used. omit the comma (see part v, no. 13, post).
- 3. Separate the different items of dates and references by commas In November, 1910, we began our pilgrimage. 24th Cong., 1st sess., Senate Docs., no. 15.

4. Insert a comma between the citation of two consecutive pages, and where there are more than three figures (except in dates and pages).

Wis. Hist. Colls., xvi. pp. 5, 10, 11, 16, The town has a population of 12.684.

See p. 12684.

The year 1486.

5. An inclusive date or reference is connected by a hyphen.

N. Y. Colon, Docs., ix, pp. 16-22.

Mass. Hist. Colls., 5th series, v-vii.

June 10-16. June 16-Aug. 10, 1812. June 16, 1812-Aug. 10, 1815.

6. Possessives and contractions are indicated by an apostrophe. When the word taking the possessive case ends in s it should be followed by an apostrophe with another s.

Barnes's History of the United States, p. 65; not Barnes' History. But Niles'

Register is an exception, due to long usage in that form, a. Do not contract dates by apostrophes. This is often done in the case of a college class or a proverbial expression; but it is not good form.

The class of '89. The spirit of '76. The argonauts of '49.

7. Parentheses are used for interpolations or explanatory clauses, such as the name of place and date of publication, inserted dates, scientific terms, translation of foreign phrases, explanations of obscure words or terms, and an alternative expression or reading.

William M. Darlington, Christopher Gist's Journals (Pittsburgh, 1893), app.,

p. 269.

In this year (1802) Napoleon made peace.

Wild pigeons (cetopistes migraterius) once were numerous in the Northwest. The Folles Avoines (Menominee) Indians lived near La Baye (Green Bay).

8. If the interpolation is an editorial comment introduced into a citation or document, brackets should be used instead of parentheses:

Brown, the best of authorities, says, "The Roman legion was divided into ten cohorts [cohors] * * * composed of six centuries [centuria]."

The original letter reads: Last year [1815] the Folles Avoines [Menominee] took part in the siege of Fort Shelby [at Prairie du Chien, on the Mississippi].

a. Brackets are likewise used to explain the condition of the manuscript when a hiatus occurs.

Lewis and Clark left River Dubois May [blank in Ms.], 1804. * * * When they arrived at Fort Mandan [Ms. illegible] to the villages of the Mini[tari] where they found the [Ms. torn].

b. Brackets with the word sic may be used to indicate that the manuscript reads thus, although improperly or mistakenly. These marks should be sparingly used.

We left March 16, 1819, and arrived in January of the same year [sic].

9. Omissions in a citation are to be indicated by stars. Use a break with a series of three stars if the omission is less than three lines in length. If a considerable mass of material is omitted, use a full line of eight stars.

V Abbreviations

1. Upon the first citation of any authority, give author's name in full (initials may be used for Christian names), followed by complete title of book or document, with place and date of publication. In every subsequent citation thereof, use a comprehensible abbreviation, taking curto keep the same form throughout.

Full title: Max Farrand. Records of the Federal Convention of 1787 (New Haven, 1911), iii, p. 278.

Subsequent abbreviation: Farrand, Fed. Conv., iii, p. 278.

2. If the book bears no place or date of publication, use the abbreviations n. p. (no place), n. d. (no date).

Proceedings of the General Court Martial convened for the trial of Commodore James Barron (n. p., 1822), p. 15.

Amendments to the Charter of New York (New York, n. d), p. 15.

 a. Where the publication has passed through more than one edition, it is desirable to specify the edition cited.

Francis Parkman, La Sall, and the Discovery of the Great West (Boston, ed. 1892, p. 401).

3. When two or more references to the same volume in the same series follow each other consecutively, use ibid instead of repeating the title: if a different volume in the same series, use id. If a later reference is quite near, but not actually consecutive, it is allowable to use the author's name and the abbreviation op. cit.; but an author's name alone is usually insufficient.

Wis. Hist. Colls., xvi, p. 234.

Ibid, p. 191.

Id, xix, pp. 218-220.

Parkman, op. cit., p. 215.

4. In referring to matter on a previous page, use ante; if on a subsequent page, post.

For biography, see ante, p. 326, note 69.

See his letter, post, p. 425.

5. When referring to a work that contains too many references to cite in detail by page, use the term passim, or refer to index theref.

Consult Bartram, Travels (London, 1792), passim.

6. In references to dramas the abbreviations should be act, sc. (scene), and the number of the line.

Antony and Cleopatra, act iii, sc. 2, 28,

- 7. For constitutions and by-laws use the abbreviations art. (article), and sec. (section). In citing laws give chap, and sec. The subject of legal citation is too technical for explanation in a pamphlet of this size.
- 8. In public documents the abbreviations U. S., Cong., sess., docs., ex. (executive), misc., jour., no. (number), are permissible (see part vi. post). For abbreviations of states and territories consult U. S. Postal Guide.
- 9. Books of the Bible may be abbreviated and punctuated according to established usage.

I Chron., xxiv. 16; xxv. 9.

I Thess., ii, 16-iii, 4.

- 10. Omit from citations the abbreviations vol. or vols.; but use chap., chaps., p., pp., art., arts., sec., secs., fig., figs., app., ed., cf.
- 11. To express sequence, use either the abbreviation etc., et seq., or (with pages) if.

The work was arranged in sentences, paragraphs, chapters, etc., numbered one, two, three, et seq. See p. 5 ff.

- 12. The abbreviations e.g. (for example) and i.e. (that is to say), are useful. Ms., Mss. are the usual abbreviations for manuscript and its plural.
- 13. Geographical abbreviations, such as Co. for County, tp. for township, are permissible in foot-notes.
- 14. The abbreviations & and Co. may be used in names of firms or corporations.

Maemillan & Co.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Co.

- 15. Proper names should never be abbreviated, but initials are allowable.
- 16. When preceding the full name or initials, personal or professional titles should be abbreviated. If only the surname is used, give title in full.

Gen. William T. Sherman.

General Sherman.

17. In using the abbreviations Jr. and Sr. (junior and senior) with proper names, consider these as part of the name, and do not set off with commas.

Adam J. Brown Jr. was the next speaker; not Adam J. Brown, Jr., etc.

18. Figures should be used to express money, time, statistics, house numbers, series of numbers, and degrees of heat; in other cases, all numbers under a hundred should be spelled out.

At the age of twenty-five, he was worth but $25.

Sixteen years ago the political discussion turned on the ratio of 16 to 1.

Meet me at 4:30, at 14 Madison Ave.

In eighty cities the thermometer registered over 80 degrees Fahrenheit.

Out of the one hundred and ten in the audience, 90 were men.

From 90 to 100 attended.

a. Do not begin a sentence with figures.

Eight hundred and twenty-three people composed the audience, of whom 496 were men and 347 women.

b. Round numbers, or approximations, should be spelled out.

About eight hundred people were present.

A city of twenty-five thousand.

19. For ordinal numbers, Roman numerals are preferable to Arabic.

Henry VIII (do not use Henry VIIIth), iii, part ii.

 a. It is best to spell out centuries and dynasties, save where brevity is desirable.

The Nineteenth century; not XIX century.

Twenty-fitth Egyptian dynasty: not XXV Egyptian dynasty.

b. In names of military bodies, number of edition, and the United States Congress, Arabic figures should be used.

The 4th N. Y. Infantry.

Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

The Annals of the 54th Congress.

- 20. As designation of size of books, 4to, 8vo, 12mo, are considered as symbols not abbreviations, and do not require to be followed by a period.
  - 21. In using a sequence of figures do not abbreviate the final figure. pp. 130-134; not 130-34, nor 130-4.
  - a. In a sequence of dates, however, the century may be omitted. 1730-34; not 1730-1734, nor 1730-4.

- 22. In dates, all months except April, May, June and July, may be abbreviated to three letters—September to four.
- 23. Spell out the number of the day when placed before the name of the month: after it, use only figures (not st, th, nd, and rd).

The twentieth of May, 1730; not 20 May.

May 20, 1730: not May 20th, 1730.

24. Percent is now used as a single English word. He will take five percent for his money.

VI. Selected Examples

In some departments of historical study, notably European, certain arbitrary forms of citation and abbreviation of early sources have become firmly established through long usage. Although varying much from the style otherwise in vogue, they are still adhered to as a matter of convenience. A few are included in the following examples; but most of the citations given below are in accord with the rules herein set forth.

The full citation is for the first mention of the source; the abbreviation is for subsequent mentions (see ante, p. 5, under "Abbreviations," par. 1).

List of Active Members of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin

(Trustee of the State)

And of its local auxiliaries, the Green Bay, Lafayette County, Manitowoc, Ripon, Sauk County, Superior, Trempealeau County, Walworth County, and Waukesha County Historical Societies

Corrections to this seventh annual Membership List, especially as regards full names, academic degrees, and official and professional positions held by Members, will be welcomed by the Superintendent.

Nominations for membership should also be addressed to the Superintendent. Any Member has the right to propose new names.

Extract from the constitution of the Society:

Membership

ARTICLE II, Section 1. This Society shall be composed of life, annual, honorary, corresponding, auxiliary, and ex-officio members.

Members of the first four classes may be chosen by the executive committee of the Society at any regular or special meeting thereof.

Any society in Wisconsin, organized for the purpose of gathering and preserving facts relative to the history of this State and of its individual citizens, and incorporated in accordance with the laws of the State, may, upon application and the filing of a resolution as required by law, become an auxiliary member of this Society, be represented at all general meetings thereof by one delegate, and make a report of its work annually to this Society.

Ex-officio members are the governor, secretary of state, and state treasurer.

SECTION 2. The fees for membership shall be as follows: for life membership, twenty dollars; and for annual membership, two dollars per annum. The life membership fee, or the first year's dues for annual membership, shall be payable within one month after election to membership and notice of such election; except that an annual member may at any time become a life member by paying the requisite fee.

SECTION 3. The right to hold office and to vote, and to take part in the proceedings of the Society, shall be possessed only by life, annual, and ex-officio members, and delegates from auxiliary societies; only life and annual members shall hold office.

Green Bay Historical Society

During the past year the Green Bay Historical Society has held two successful and interesting meetings and made its annual pilgrimage.

The first meeting was held May 26 at the assembly room of the Kellogg Public Library. An interesting paper on the site of the old Jesuit mission of St. Francis Navier at De Pere, prepared by Mrs. Curtis R. Merrill who had been a resident of that city since 1849, was read by Miss Katharine Merrill, and much discussion ensued thereon.

James H. Elmore also gave a talk about the old harbor and channel leading into Fox River. He told about the first movement for the straight-cut through Grass Island, and deposited with the Society the first map, made by himself and others, showing the soundings, ceurses, and distances of the proposed new channel, now completed and used. The map is a valuable addition to our records.

The second meeting was held June 12, at the same place. At this time officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Arthur C. Neville.

Vice-President, James H. Elmore.

Secretary, Miss Minnie H. Kelleher.

Treasurer, Mrs. William Joannes.

At this meeting it was decided to accept the invitation of the Wisconsin Archaeological Society to make an annual pilgrimage to Manitowoc and join them in the meeting at that place. The following committee of arrangements was appointed: Mrs. A. C. Neville, Mrs. J. H. Elmore, and Miss Sarah G. Martin. About fifteen went to Manitowoc and had a most delightful experience. Automobiles were furnished for all visitors, and the ride through the beautiful country surrounding Manitowoc was exhilarating. A visit was first made to the monument of old Chief Mexico, recently erected by the Manitowoc Historical Society, at which time an excellent address was delivered by Dr. Louis Falge of Manitowoc, who reviewed the life of the chief and his connection with history. We were then driven to the church and mission of St. Nazianz, about eighteen miles from Manitowoc-a very interesting place, where we were received most cordially by the superior of the society and the brothers. We visited the tomb of the founder, in the crypt under the old church, the new church, museum, school, and the stations of the cross in the beautiful grounds surrounding the building. The brothers then invited us to a delicious luncheon served in the refectory. The evening meeting of the Archæological Society was held at the assembly room of the public library, but our members were obliged to take the train for home before the meeting was fairly under way.

Nothing much has been done within the year in the way of investigation or in marking historic sites—partly because of the inclemency of the weather, but mainly because of the lack of funds. But there was considerable discussion upon this subject at both of the meetings, and it seemed to be the opinion of the members present that more work of this character should be done and a determined effort made to raise the necessary money. It was suggested by the president that the site of the old De Langlade dwelling and trading house be ascertained as nearly as possible, and marked; which seemed to meet with general approval.

Mrs. Neville and Miss Sarah Martin were appointed a committee to prepare a programme for the December meeting.

ARTHUR C. NEVILLE, President.

La Fayette County

The Lafayette County Historical Society is almost unique, in that we have no meetings, no papers, and few members, and still our progress is perhaps the greatest of any county of our size in the State.

This part of Wisconsin is well represented in the volumes of the Wisconsin Historical Collections, having been quite fully written up by Dr. Moses Meeker, Dr. J. G. Percival, Mrs. A. P. Gratiot, Col. Henry Gratiot, Judge Charles Dunn, Judge M. M. Cothren, Gen. Henry Dodge, Gen. Charles Bracken, Col. D. M. Parkinson, Col. W. S. Hamilton, Maj. Peter Parkinson, Hon. A. P. Ladd, Hon. M. M Strong, and others; and we have a comprehensive History of the county.

We have added 52 volumes to our library, including Murray's English Reader, printed in 1799; and a large Bible, printed in London in 1723 and rescued from a burning building in Alexandria, Va., during the Civil War, by a soldier from this county. Among other accessions are a copy of the Wisconsin Democrat, published in territorial days; an English deed, with a commission to Gen. Lucius Fairchild and Col. William F. Vilas to acknowledge the same; bound volumes of the Darlington Democrat during the Civil War; letters to the Society from William H. Taft, Theodore Roosevelt, and Champ Clark; original roster of Company E. Thirty-first Regiment, Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry; large case containing twenty-six specimens of native birds and small animals; scales, over a hundred years old, with fifteen weights, for testing gold coins; a specimen of Swiss wood carving; a fine Indian war-mace of stone and raw-hide; a set of eight mining tools used here seventy-five years ago; pilot licenses of 1860 and 1867, and old letters and documents. We have also received 44 pictures of old settlers, including H. S. Magoon, Samuel Hamilton, A. B. P. Wood, Hugh Campbell, George Clementson. James Judge, R. A. Murray, John D. Wilson, C. R. Bridgman, David Schreiter, J. S. Waddington, L. E. Johnson, T. C. L. Mackey, J. R. Rose, A. G. Hawley, P. B. Simpson, John E. Dunean, and N. Olmsted. There has also been donated to the Society, fine pictures of U.S. Grant and William E. Gladstone. The museum has been enriched by more than a hundred specimens, including a bird stone, a trap spider's nest, a sea horse, fragments from Pompeii, a shark's egg, a sunflower fish, corals, petrifactions, sea shells, sponges, banderilla, etc.

The donation that perhaps attracted most attention was a Swiss cow bell, thirty-eight inches in circumference, with a strap six inches wide and ornamented with raw-hide tracery, and the date (1806) in raised letters of raw-hide. This is perhaps the best specimen of the kind in the State.

P. H. CONLEY, President.

DARLINGTON, October 15, 1912.

Manitowoc County

The Manitowoo County Historical Society held no stated meetings during the winter of 1911–12. The officers, however, gave much time to coöperation with a private publishing concern which was at work on a history of the county. As a result the main historical portion of this work was prepared on plans and with a care not often bestowed on works of this nature.

The sole remaining activity of the Society during the year was the entertainment of the Wisconsin Archæological Society on the occasion of that Society's annual pilgrimage on August 23 and 24 of this year. The attendance was quite large and the educational and social features of the gathering were much enjoyed by all. A full account of the addresses is given in the report of the Archæological Society, hence detailed reference thereto need not be given here. One day was spent at the communal colony at St. Nazianz, citizens of Manitowoc generously donating the automobiles with which to convey the sixty guests of the city to that destination. On the second day a beach picnic was carried out upon a site once occupied by Indian graveyards. In all, the sessions were most successful and awakened a healthy local interest in historical and archæological matters.

R. G. Plumb, Secretary.

Manitowoc, October 18, 1912

Sauk County

During the past year the Sauk County Historical Society has held two meetings, a basket pienic, a trip to the State Historical Society's Museum at Madison, and a pilgrimage. At the first meeting of the year the following papers were read:

Sauk County Civil War Incidents, by Emory Wyman of Gibbon, Nebr, read by S. A. Pelton.

Fairfield in the Fifties, by Mrs. John Luce; read by Miss Emma Gattiker.

My Pioneer Journey to Baraboo, by Attorney R. T. Warner of Everett, Wash., read by Mrs. Laura Martin.

Origin of the Word Baraboo, by H. E. Cole.

At this meeting Mrs. Frank Avery was selected as a delegate to the State Historical Society's meeting to be held in Madison. An invitation was extended by Mrs. Frank Avery for a social gathering to be held at her home; the point of meeting was afterwards changed to the home of Mrs. J. G. Train.

At the second meeting, the members of the Society listened to an interesting lecture by Dr. Louise P. Kellogg of the State Historical Society's staff at Madison. She spoke on the migration of the Wisconsin Indians—a history of the Indian tribes that had inhabited this State, their struggles, their clans, their mounds, their native religion, their wanderings, and finally their extinction or segregation on reservations. Maps, pictures of chiefs, and views were shown and the various types of Indians discussed.

The basket pienic was held at the home of Mrs. J. G. Train, who was assisted by Mrs. E. V. Alexander and Mrs. B. F. Mills. The evening with Mrs. Train was one of the pleasantest to be recorded in the annals of the Society. A paper was read by Mrs. Alexander on Wisconsin landmarks, that had been prepared by Mrs. Skinner of Madison. Many views were shown, including the Man Mound tablet and the Yellow Thunder pillar.

The trip to the State Historical Society Museum at Madison was enjoyed by several members of the Society and friends. Charles E. Brown, chief of that division of the parent society's activities, conducted the party and lectured upon the exhibits. A trip of this nature is a feature that other county societies might well consider.

The pilgrimage was made to Prairie du Sac, and is the fourth made by our Society. The members and their friends went from Baraboo and vicinity by carriage and auto, being met at Prairie du Sac by pilgrims from Madison and other points. Prairie du Sac members of the Society and their friends had made every arrangement for the occasion, and a hearty reception was met with. During the forenoon a visit was made to the homes of Edward D. Ochsner and Edward C. Perkins. The former is a well-known taxidermist and his large collection was interesting. Mr. Perkins has assembled more archaeological specimens than any other person in this region. At noon a basket picnic was held in Marion Park, at the close of which those present listened to an excellent address by Dr. C. K. Leith, chairman of the department of geology at the State University. He told of his experiences in the Hudson Bay region, where he spent a summer in research work. In the afternoon a trip was made by launch up the Wisconsin River to the site of the big dam, then in course of construction; there, R. G. Walter, engineer of construction, explained the work to the visitors. A large number made the pilgrimage, and the day will be remembered by all as a most pleasant one.

During the year several new members were added to the Society. As usual the historical exhibit at the county fair, which is looked after by the members, brought out some interesting exhibits. The election of officers for the ensuing year will be held some time next month.

H. E. Cole, President. H. K. Page, Secretary.

Trempealeau County

The interest manifested by the people of our county during the past year for the Trempealeau County Historical Society is a practical assurance of its entire success. A year ago, our report showed that we had forty-one members; we now have eighty-five, and this increase has taken place without any special solicitation.

Nearly all the efforts of the Society have been directed toward obtaining original sketches and data relating to the pioneer days of our county. Among the many valuable contributions made, may be mentioned "Forty-one years of reminiscences" by Stephen Richmond of Areadia. In sixty pages of typewritten manuscript Mr. Richmond has left us a wealth of descriptions, observations, and reflections. "Pioneer lawyers of Trempealeau County," by G. Y. Freeman of Galesville, is another valuable acquisition; he was one of the first practitioners in the county, and until recently active in his profession. J. D. Olds, a typical pioneer, with a Robinson Crusoe-like genius for compelling his environment to yield him whatever he needed for support and comfort, has also left with the Society a paper that will in future times be consulted with much interest.

But even at his best, man surveys life from the hilltops; while he is enraptured by visions of the distant future, woman is down in the valley weaving the web of everyday life in a thousand forms. Before her sympathetic eyes pass and repass in endless procession all the trifles and details that eventually require her tact and skill to combine into the harmonious whole of domestic life. It naturally follows that if we would know the real life of a people we must go to woman for our information. During the past year our Society has been fortunate in receiving contributions from several women, descriptive of the pioneer days of Trempealeau County. Mrs. Ida Englesby of Eleva, a daughter of Milo B. Gibson, a pioneer of that part of the county, has given us an admirable sketch of the trials and privations of first settlers during the years 1856 and 1857. Among early teachers who have added to our store of pioneer literature, I take pleasure in mentioning Miss Margaret Anderson, who taught for nearly forty years; Louise Kaas, who has taught continuously for thirty-seven years and is still teaching; and Mrs. Mary Wright, who taught the first school in the district where Pigeon Falls is now located.

Dr. E. D. Pierce is such a constant and frequent contributor of historical material to our Society that a mere mention of his name as such is in a brief report of this kind an inadequate recognition of his services

An old settlers' pienic was held under the auspices of our Society at Trempealeau, June 30 of this year. Antoine Grignon, who first came to this county in 1836 and settled here permanently in 1843, was the guest of honor. Several addresses were made and papers read. Dr. Pierce's paper read on that occasion was a coneise summary of historical events leading up to the settlement of Trempealeau, and a beautiful tribute to a long and honorable life in the person of our esteemed pioneer, Antoine Grignon. A resolution was adopted at this meeting appointing a committee to take steps toward getting Mount Trempealeau set aside as a State park.

During the year nearly a hundred portraits of pioneer men and women have been collected, together with biographical sketches of most of those represented by these portraits. Almost complete files of the Galesville Transcript from its first issue, March 16, 1860, have been secured by the Society.

Among relies secured during the past year may be mentioned the following: Fur-trader's ax found in the ruins of Fort Perrot; a curious oil lamp used in early days; possibly the first Bible brought into our county by a permanent settler; chest brought from Vermont by Judge Gale, founder of Gale University; a "charm string" of nearly four hundred buttons gathered about forty years ago by a pioneer woman; an old-fashioned ox-yoke, common up to thirty years ago but now difficult to find; an ox shoe; a gun-barrel of olden make, found under the roots of a large tree.

Among the literary productions of Trempealeau County people we now possess: Drippings from the Eaves, by Rev. T. Grafton Owen; two volumes of poems by Mr. S. S. Luce and wife; Upper Mississippi, by Judge Gale; Garden of Eden and Baptism, by Rev. D. O. Van Slyke; "Ode to Mount Trempealeau," by Miss Olive Owen, besides numerous addresses, lectures, etc.

The third annual meeting of the Society was held at the courthouse in Whitehall on November 12, being presided over by its venerable president, Capt. A. Arnold, now in his eightieth year.

The feature of the meeting was the presentation of descriptions of the different national groups of settlers in this county, and the result was a remarkable series of papers that will do much to establish a closer relationship between them. J. F. Kulig of Independence presented the story of the Poles and Bohemians. John C. Gaveney of Arcadia, that of the Irish; P.

H. Johnson of Whitehall, the Scandinavians; R. S. Cowie of Whitehall, the Scotch; W. S. Wadleigh of Galesville, the English; George Schmidt of Arcadia, the Germans.

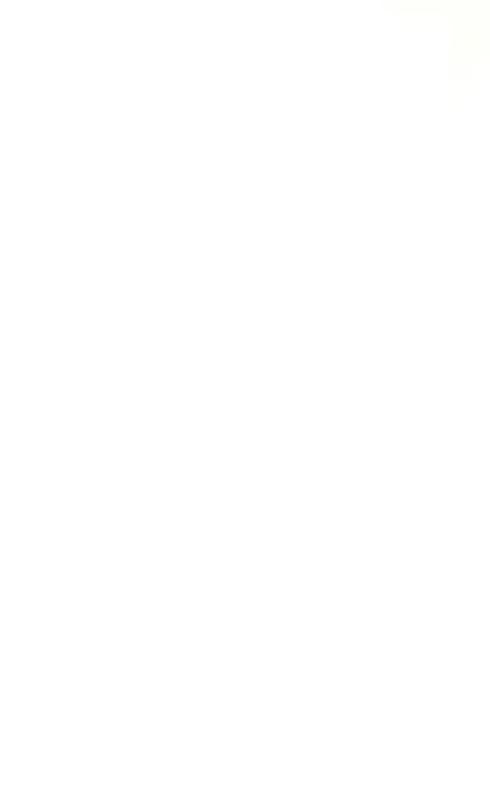

A fine summing up of the natural results of the commingling and blending of the various nationalities which have settled in our county was made by G. O. Linderman, of Osseo, in which he pictured the coming and development of "The composite citizen"—the eventual strong, ideal American, who shall combine in his make-up all the better traits of these several peoples and races.

Mr. Charles Freeman's paper on "Trempealeau County women prominent in home, field, and forum," was read in his absence by E. F. Hensel of Whitehall; it was a pleasing tribute to the real home-makers of the county.

Unbroken attention was given to every number on the programme, from 7:30 till 11 o'clock. The papers were interspersed by well-rendered selections of music and song furnished by the Whitehall Band. Areadia Glee Club, and Luren. The programme was concluded by singing "America" and holding of a business meeting. A. A. Arnold was re-elected president; M. J. Warner, James N. Hunter, and E. J. Matchett, vice-presidents; E. F. Hensel, F. C. Richmond, and J. A. Markham, advisory committee: H. Hoberton, Treasurer; and H. A. Anderson, secretary.

Rev. T. Grafton Owen and Stephen Richmond, members of the Society who had died during the past year, were remembered by well-deserved tributes in the form of memorials and resolutions. A resolution was adopted, committing the Society to an earnest effort to prevail on the legislature to purchase and set apart Mount Trempealeau as a State park. A resolution was also adopted which makes it the duty of the Society's advisory committee to meet on or before the first of January every year for the purpose of arranging for meetings and programmes for the ensuing year. As a fitting close to the exercises of this interesting occasion, a resolution was passed declaring Antoine Grignon of Trempealeau "the guest of honor." The fact that he was present at the meeting, at the age of eighty-four years, is evidence of his interest in the work of the Society.

H. A. Anderson, Scoretary.

Walworth County

Three members have been added to the Walworth County Historical Society, and three have died, since its last report.

William Pitt Meacham, the first white native of Troy, was a son of Urban Duncan Meacham and Prudence Geddes, a grandson of James Meacham and Patience Wallace, and an adoptive grandson of Major Jesse Meacham, who had married his brother's widow and adopted her three sons. Pitt was born at the site of the village September 27, 1836, and died there November 3, 1911.

Theodore A. Fellows was born in Kalamazoo County, Mich., May 12, 1836. His parents came to Bloomfield in 1840; in 1801 he was mustered into service as a sergeant of Company K., Eighth Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, and in 1865 he was mustered out as captain, having served in more than thirty battles and skirmishes. He died February 10, 1912, in his seventh year of service as county supervisor for Genoa Junction.

Ira Pratt Larnard was born in Tioga County, N. Y., January 20, 1821. He came to Delavan in 1841; was in various business enterprises as a proprietor, from 1845 until about 1861; was town clerk, 1870–1890, and for several years treasurer of the Baptist Society of Delavan. He was a model record officer, and his memories of men and affairs at Delavan served himself and his friends well until nearly the last day of his long life—May 2, 1912.

These three men have for long been held in honor by their fellow-citizens of the county, and their names have added credit to the roll of our Society's membership.

Within the year a new compilation, purporting to be a history of the county, has been published at Indianapolis. It is in two quarto volumes (1494 pages), of which about three-eighths is in some sense historical and therefore of some value for reference. Its other matter, as here understood, was prepared for the publishers and their subscribers by Clyde Edwin Tuck, of Indianapolis. A copy of this work has been secured for the Society.

Mr. Eames succeeds Mr. Carswell as treasurer. The other officers continue in their old places.

A. C. Beckwith, President.

ELKHORN, October 24, 1912.

Waukesha County

The Waukesha County Historical Society holds only two meetings during the year—the annual on the first Saturday in May, and a meeting during the first week in September.

At the annual meeting for 1912, held in the parlors of the Congregational church at Waukesha, James A. McKenzie was elected president. The secretary and treasurer were re-elected, and J. H. A. Lacher, A. V. B. Dey, and F. E. Tichenor were elected vice-presidents. The advisory committee was re-elected.

A report of progress was read by the Cushing monument committee. A letter from the state secretary of the Daughters of the American Revolution was read, stating that a resolution had been adopted by the Wisconsin conference of the D. A. R. endorsing the sentiment of this Society in its desire to preserve from destruction the old cemeteries where Wisconsin pioneers were buried, and that the D. A. R. chapters would interest themselves locally in furthering this sentiment by appeal, when occasion requires, to townships or municipal authorities and legislators.

An invitation from Henry Becker and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kunz to hold the September meeting in Delafield was accepted. Mr. Lacher presented a desk for the preservation of records, letters, and books. Twelve new members were added to the Society at this meeting. Lauren Barker read a paper on "Pioneers of Brookfield", and George R. Rice on "Welsh pioneers of Waukesha County." Miss M. E. Stewart presented a paper on "Reminiscences of early school-teaching days." Fine vocal sclos were given by Mrs. Olsen and the Misses Tichenor and Minor. Luncheon was served by the ladies of Waukesha, and members and guests were treated to a delightful auto ride to points of interest in and near the city. An exhibition of shoes of the olden time was made at this meeting by Mr. Lacher.

A meeting of the board of directors was called by the president in July, 1912, to consider some needed amendments to the by-laws. A motion was made and carried that the following amendments be submitted for consideration at the September meeting:

All that part of Article I of the by-laws referring to residence of members to be stricken out, and the following substituted therefor:

Art. I, Section I. Any person interested in the work of this Society is eligible to membership.

Sec. 2. Honorary members may be proposed and elected in the same manner as regular members.

Sec. 3. Any member may at any regular meeting propose the name of any person he may regard as suitable for membership.

The meeting of September 5 was held at Nestledown, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kunz and of Henry Becker, in Delafield. The foregoing amendments to the by-laws were adopted. Mrs. Edwards, chairman of the committee on cemeteries, read a circular letter prepared by that committee, with the suggestion that the Society authorize the printing, and that 500 copies be sent to societies, clubs, churches, and other associations.

Mrs. Whitney donated to the Society a number of magazines fifty or more years old. Mrs. Richard Humphrey donated the Portrait and Biographical Record of Waukesha County. Six honorary and eight active members were elected. After an address of welcome by the president, the members and guests joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne." Mrs. Persis Stickney Searl gave an interesting account of pioneer life in the town of Vernon. A letter from Edwin H. Park of Denver, and a short historical sketch by his mother, of Seattle, once residents of Vernon, were read by the secretary.

Dr. A. J. W. Nixon read a communication from Judge George II. Noyes on "the Cushing matter," and a letter from Col. J. A. Watrous on the same subject was read by Mr. Kunz. The report of the Delafield Cushing committee was read by the secretary. The owners of the site of the Cushing birthplace offered it at a reasonable rate, also to donate a right of way to the public road; Judge Noyes offered to donate three acres. A resolution to accept these offers was passed, providing such acceptance meet the approval of the governor of Wisconsin. A valuable gift to the Society was a picture of the "Albemarle," with the autograph of the builder, Gilbert Elliott, coming from Capt. Lloyd G. Harris of St. Louis.

The audience joined in singing "Tenting tonight" and "Home, sweet home," and solos were sung by Mr. Kunz and his daughter, Miss Janet Kunz. A luncheon was served by the ladies of Delafield and a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Since the meeting another acre of land has been promised, also several hundred dollars and all the gravel needed for a concrete bridge; and eleven applications for membership have been received.

JULIA A. LAPHAM, Secretary.
